Family Out of the House. For many years George H. Ebeling resided in the German quarter in the southwestern part of Newark, and was known as a well-to-do business man. He had a dyeing cetablishment in Springfield avenue, near Broome street. With his earnings he purchased a farm worth $6,000 and other real estate. When the hard times came on he lost all his land, after paying out about $2,000 cash for interest on mortgages. He saved only enough money to buy a house for his family, with a store in the lower story, at 128 Prince street. His advarsities preyed sane, and afterward he frequently accused his

"Run, mother," cried Henry; "he has the gevolver!"

Mrs. Ebeling dashed into the store and thence out into the street, followed by her two older sons. When they were safely out Henry sprang from the door, and as he rushed through the store he heard his father pursuing him. When he got to the street door the bor stopped and looked back. His father stood in the open door between the store and dining room. He pointed the revolver at his own head.

"Don't you see?" Don't you see?" he asked.

Henry saw a flash and heard a report. At the same time his father dropped forward on the floor of the store. The ball went deep into the man's brain, and he died in five minutes. Ebeling was 52 years old.

SHOT AFTER A PICNIC

A Man who says Another Man Shot Him, but

The James L. Somers Association had a pic nic in Myrtle Avenue Park, Brooklyn, on Tueslay, and after it broke up many were intoxicated. John Dunn of 162 North Third street Brooklyn, a member of the Battle Row Gang, was at the bar drinking when a dispute area that he owed for the liquer, refused to pay, and in the quarrel that followed between himself, the barkeeper, and a number of persons in front of the bar, he drew a pistol and snapped the hammer twice. He then becan to use the pistol as a club, and as he was airthing with it, it is said, it went off, and the builet entered his abdomen. Donn was removed to the Cty Hospital, and yesterday he was in a critical condition. To Coroner Keller he said in his ante-morten denosition that he was not shot by his own pistol, but that a big man who was fighting a little man shot him when he Dunny took sides with the little man. The police, however, appear to be satisfied that Dunn shot himself accidentally. Charles Forst of 73 Manhattan avenue, Lennel Haight of 200 Eckbord street. The Singular Story of a Man who was Ar-Patrick Stanton, who has been a husband if at all, about three weeks, when arraigned in Justice Kenna's Court in Brooklyn, yesterday, on a charge of having abandoned his wife, Evelyn Stanton, denied that he had ever been married to her. Stanton is a young truckman, employed in Cross & Austin's lumber yard in Kent avenue, and he lives at 75 Kent avenue. He says that he went to a picnic in Myrtle Avenue Park on Aug. 6, and that he was there introduced to one Miss Evelyn Lambert, who was accompanied by a friend of his named Keenan. apon his mind. Three years ago he became in- He danced with her several times, and drank supon his mind. Three years ago he became insane, and alterward he frequently accused his family of trying to defraud him. He gave up the dyeing business, and opened grocery stores at his home in Prince street and in Forry street.

Once a month, according to his family, he had bad spells, during which he was fierce and troublesome. Several times he said he would kill his wife and children and then end his own life. In one of his unity moods he attacked two of his agos for using butter at the table. He struck hem with his flats and children and then end his own life. Goff sat down before a table and ate his meal. He arose, and as he passed Anderson he threw his arm about his neck. He then left the saloon. Anderson missed a valuable cameo scarf pin. He caused the arrest of Goff, who samitted to Policeman Leamy that he had taken the pin.
Goff was yesterday arraigned before Justice Morgan in the Jefferson Market Police Court, where he claimed that he was not guity. He was held in $1,000 bail. The scarf pin was lound on the street, a few leet from the spot where he was arrested.

Suing for Her Margin and Profits. Mrs. Annie P. Cunningham has brought suit in the Supreme Court against James Stevenson and Henry D. Harris for alleged fraud in obtaining from her $360, which she advanced as margin for the purchase by them of sixty shares of Pacific Mail stock. The firm of Stevenson & Co. had a branch office at 1,132 Broadway, where the money was paid upon the representation by the desendants that they were members of the Stock Exchange and purchased large blocks of stock, which they sold in smaller parcels to their customers. Facific Mail having in a lew days advanced three per cent, Mrs. Cunningham called for her stock, but failed to get either the stock of her money.

About 3% o'clock yesterday morning fire was discovered in the large two-story frame house, in Swan street, Tompkinsville, owned by George Everson, and occupied by John O'Donnell. Before the flames could be extinguished, the house and furniture were badly damaged. There is an inaurance of $2,000 on the house and $1,500 on the jurniture, which includes several expensive pictures. It is believed that the fire was start-ed by an incendiary. This is the second time the build-ing has been set on fire within a week.

A Colossal Bronze Statue of the Virgin. A bronze statue of the Virgin Mary was cast on Tuesday at the foundry of Geo. Fischer & Bro., 200 Forsyth street. It was modelled by Robert Cushing of 765 Broadway, and was ordered by the Rev. J. C. Drum goole. It will be placed on the St Joseph's Home for Boys, now nearly built at the corner of Lafayette place and Great Jones street. The statue is eight teet high and weight 1.700 pounds. It represents the Virgin in an atti-tude of entreaty. It will probably be put in position on the new building next Saturday.

Coroner Ellinger yesterday visited the works of the Brush Electric Light Company to familiarize him-self with the working of the electric apparatus, that he may more intelligently conduct the inquest over the two men who were killed in Union square on Saturday night. The machiners was set in motion, at the Coroner's re-quest, and he watched it for some time. He proposes to select a jury composed entirely of electrical experts.
